

This is a survey for you as an active student at Mid Sweden University and aims to provide a clear picture of what your opinions, attitudes and values are regarding the data that you share through Mid Sweden University's Learning Management Systems (LMS). An example of this is the Moodle-platform.

At the moment, Mid Sweden University are actively working with finding a way to apply Learning Analytics, which are analysis methods to convert the data that the Learning Management Systems store and produce (the data that you share) into insights that could potentially lead to identifying where the quality of the education can be improved. It is a way for the university to work towards a more data-driven approach to improving the learning experience. However, ethical dilemmas have arisen from the use of Learning Analytics, where there have been past incidents where the data integrity and privacy of the students have been neglected. It is therefore important that the university has policies and customs that aim to conduct Learning Analytics in a data-ethical way.

The result of this survey will be used to construct a policy proposal that could be used as a framework for conducting Learning Analytics in a data-ethical way when or if it is applied at the university in the future. This policy proposal can hopefully act as a framework for protecting your data-integrity in a Learning Analytics context.

No personal information associated with your participation is stored and you are completely anonymous through the entire survey process. Your participation is entirely voluntary, and you can at any time decide to cancel your participation in the survey.

My name is Christofer Hearne and I am the one currently working with this research. I am currently attending my last year at the program Informatics with specialization in system development and this is part of my empirical investigation for my thesis at the C-level.
